'PAGO' TEUTONS GOING TO COAST FOR INTERNMENT

Guarded night and day by armed United States navy sailors, both white men and Samoans, who carry rifles and shotguns loaded with buckshot, 42 German merchant officers and sailors, taken off the refugee German merchant steamer Elsass and Solf, at Pago-Pago, American Samoa, when the vessels were seized the day the United States declared war on Germany, are here en route to San Francisco for internment at the Presidio.

Native Samoan Navy Guards
There are 11 officers and 31 men in the 1st which is going to the coast in the second cabin of the steamer. In addition to the white American sailor guards, there are several United States navy enlisted men, native Samoans, wearing a uniform which is picturesque in the extreme, consisting of red and blue cloth and trousers that resemble further the uniforms of the United States navy ones when the Samoan guards reach San Francisco.

Rifles Disturbed Waiters
At every meal on the voyage up from Pago-Pago the naval guards, with their shotguns and rifles "loaded for bear," or rather German, stood behind the tables. The waiters were quite unnerved for a few days when they passed soup around with a rifle barrel hovering in the vicinity of their left ears, but they now have become accustomed to the warlike atmosphere and the gun-barrels no longer make their hair stand on end.

German Officers Play Cards
The eleven officers were seen concentrated on the after-promenade deck of the liner. They were playing "seven-up," or what corresponds to it in German, using the regulation playing cards. They did not seem particularly careworn and all appeared well fed and quite philosophical over the fortunes of war.

Navy Men from Tutuila
There are ten navy officers and enlisted men guarding the Teutons. Because of navy regulations they declined to talk to a Star-Bulletin reporter. The navy men are from the United States naval station on Tutuila, the island of American Samoa in which the port and harbor of Pago-Pago are situated.

According to Capt. William R. Foster, harbor master here, the Elsass is a sister ship of the refugee Pommern in this port. She is owned by the North German Lloyd. The Solf is a small trading steamer formerly plying between Pago-Pago and Apia.

RULES GO INTO EFFECT TONIGHT

Tonight the new rules and regulations for the protection of the Honolulu waterfront during the duration of the war will go into effect for the first time. To be exact, they become effective at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

At noon today Chairman Charles R. Forbes of the board of harbor commissioners announced that he had conferred with General Strong, commanding the Hawaiian Department, that the general has agreed to furnish the military guards on all territorial piers as requested by the board.

The new rules mean that all territorial piers will be "tabu" to the public from 5 p. m. to 7 a. m., including Piers 2, 6, 7, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15 and 16. The remaining piers are the property of the O. R. & L. Hackfeld & Company, and the American-Hawaiian.

Under the new rules, no person will be admitted to wharves during the night, except identified employees of vessels, stevedores and employees of vessel agents.

No vessels will be allowed to leave the harbor at night or enter. This will hit the Inter-Island and Oahu Shipping Company, many of whose vessels must arrive and leave after dark in order to maintain their present schedules. The Inter-Island has announced no schedule changes to date because of the new rules, which also prevent the departure of Matson, American-Hawaiian and all other deep-sea steamers after midnight.

The new war-time regulations are being printed today by the board in the American, Hawaiian and Japanese newspapers and take effect with the date of publication of the advertisements.

Lady Well Known In Hawaii Takes Airship Flight

In a recent issue of the New Haven Journal-Courier there appears a dispatch from Miami, Fla., which tells of an experience enjoyed by Mrs. Hiram Bingham, well known here. Mrs. Bingham made an aeroplane ascension, rising to a height of 3000 feet.

Mrs. Bingham is the wife of Hiram Bingham who is often known here in the islands as Hiram Bingham III. He is a descendant of Hiram Bingham, one of the early missionaries here and is therefore of one of the old island families. He is an explorer and research investigator of note and a professor in Yale university.

Professor Bingham, according to the article in the New Haven paper, is a pupil at the Curtis school of aviation at Miami, Fla. Mrs. Bingham is with him there and when she was offered an opportunity to make a flight with Instructor Roger Jannus she gladly accepted. She went up with him while four of her seven sons looked on in admiration and delight at their mother's daring.

Professor Bingham is taking lessons in the tractor with Jannus and in the flying boat with Harold Kantner with a view of becoming an instructor himself.

CITY BUSINESS AND SUPERVISORS' NOTES

The next meeting of the board of supervisors will be held Friday noon for play rolls.

Several residents of Seventh avenue, Kaimuki, requested the board to place lights along the street.

The resolution appropriating $400 for the reconstruction of sidewalks in the Beach Walk district passed third reading.

Mrs. J. T. Silva, teacher, has requested the board to aid in giving Liliuokalani school a tennis court. It was referred to the school committee.

The board accepted an invitation to attend the opening of the new playgrounds at Aala park next Saturday, sent by A. K. Vierra, park superintendent.

A letter from the Chamber of Commerce asking what the board was going to do about numbering the city streets was referred to the police committee.

J. E. Higgins wrote the board asking that a large pipe placed across lot 28, Royal Grove, be removed as it is private property. It was referred to the water and sewer committee.

Two complaints were received by the board against C. Q. Yee Hop for stabling horses in a barn which he has recently erected in Maunakea street, near King. It was referred to the health committee.

The March report of D. L. Conkling, city treasurer, shows that during that month registered warrants amounted to $38,250.52, making a total of registered warrants undischarged $109,833.01, as follows: general fund $73,086.15, school fund $12,686.83, sewer fund $12,854.50, and the Kalaheua improvement district $10,035.75.

George Collins, city and county engineer, reported to the board that the recent rain storm caused $18,850 damages in Honolulu and $10,500 in the outside districts. These figures, he says, do not include the cost of reconstructing bridges, which would have had to be repaired in a short time anyway, nor the cost of rebuilding drains and culverts.

A proposal to establish artificial fishing banks off the south shore of Long Island was approved by the bureau of fisheries.

600 RARE SLIPS OF HIBISCUS ARE GIVEN TO SCHOOL

Six hundred slips of rare varieties of hibiscus have been presented to the Kaula school by Judge and Mrs. Clarence W. Ashford and the pupils already have begun plans to plant them and otherwise arrange for beautifying the grounds of their institution.

On the day the presentation was made, a semi-holiday was declared and the children designated the occasion "Hibiscus Day." Judge and Mrs. Ashford were present and the jurist planted a few of the slips as the exclusive privilege of the donor.

"The school and the children are very grateful to Judge and Mrs. Ashford," says Mrs. Nina L. D. Fraser, the principal, "and we feel that, in time, we will have the most beautiful school yard in Hawaii."

Many rare and choice varieties of hibiscus are to be found among the slips given by Judge and Mrs. Ashford. The school considers the gift one of the most valuable things it could receive.

CHAMBER TO LUNCH CAPTAIN MATSON

The first public luncheon in honor of Captain William Matson, president of the Matson Navigation Company, will be given Monday noon by the Chamber of Commerce at the Young Hotel.

Captain Matson arrived here on the Maui two weeks ago and requested that nothing of a public nature be tendered him until he had had time to rest.

All the members of the chamber are invited and several special stunts have been planned.

GRANDMOTHER LEADS MOB OF WOMEN WHO TRY TO LYNCH NEGRO

AMITE CITY, La.—White women, members of prominent families, led by a white-haired grandmother, were in a mob which attempted to lynch Joe Rout, a negro charged with the murder of Simeon Bennett, a planter. Officers and guards placed about the jail where Rout is confined prevented the mob from entering.

"Cowards, cowards," shrieked the women when the men in the mob, awed by the display of officers' weapons, turned to leave.

FAMILY HEAD IS NOW WITH NAVY

The first case where the war has worked a hardship on a family in Honolulu was brought to the attention of the board of supervisors Tuesday night by George M. Collins, city and county engineer.

Collins, in a letter to the board, said that John S. Townsend, employed by the county as an inspector of asphalt macadam on the Manoa improvement district, as a member of the Naval Militia was compelled to leave. As a water tender he receives $40 a month while his pay with the county was $125. He has a wife and two children aged 4 and 5, here with no other means of support than Townsend's pay. Collins asked the board to do what it could for the family. The board referred the request to the finance committee.
